THE ALEXANDRIA LIBRARY.—A meeting of the Directory of the Alexandria Library Company was held last night, which was attended by nearly all the Directors, and at which the affairs of the company, the Library, and its bearings upon the community were freely and fully discussed. It was determined, if possible, to enhance the interest manifested in the Library by the citizens, and for this purpose to try and induce a more general membership, the advantages derived from the proper maintenance of the institution being quite apparent, and its good effects having been fully demonstrated. Every citizen should feel an interest in sustaining the Library, which is now one of the most valuable in the country, and it is hoped that in the renewed efforts about to be put forward by the Directors of the company, they will be met with that encouragement which will enable them to carry out fully their plans, and make the Library the pride, as it should be, of the city. In days gone by, the Library has received the generous support of all classes of our citizens, and now, as the city is improving and growing this, of all its institutions, should grow with its growth and increase with its prosperity; therefore, let all who can, lend a helping hand and assist as far as possible in its proper maintenance.

HEALTH HINTS.—The present is a season always prolific of colds, more dangerous generally than those that during the winter, because caused not so much by changes of temperature as by imprudence in regard to changes of clothing. It is a safe rule to make no change from heavy to light clothing until the weather is sufficiently settled to guarantee a continuance of mild temperature. It is much easier to bear with thick flannel underclothes during the dashes of warm weather we are having at present, than to suffer a spell of pneumonia, with a medical and druggist's bill at the end of it, and the chance of an undertaker's services also. A large number of the most serious colds with which people suffer in the spring are taken in the way above mentioned, by injudicious change of clothing. Another fruitful source of sickness is the hasty removal of facilities for fire in the early spring. It would be much better if the stoves and grates were kept up until the 1st of May at least, and a day like the present kindle a little fire morning and night. Invalids and children suffer often with cold from a want of fire at this season. The air is often damp and a cool damp room is worse to sit in than a walk in the rain. An esteemed friend of the writer a few years ago by sitting half an hour in a parlor in midsummer that had been kept closely shut up, took cold that killed him in less than a year.

REMINISCENCES OF ALEXANDRIA.—In the old colonial days, when our city was known as Belle Haven, though disparaging antiquarians say it was called Rogné's Harbor, the principal floor store of the place was in the old house at the southwest corner of Royal and Queen streets. In that deep valley, now filled up for the most part and built on, running up from above Fishtown in a southwest direction toward Liberty Hall, was a creek or bay, sufficiently deep to float vessels, which tradition says used to land and receive goods at a wharf then located between the above named Hall and Queen street, the remains of which were visible not many years since. Vessels of lighter draft could, and did, pass up as far as King street, and an old citizen not long since dead, used to say that he had seen long boats put out wood at the spot where now stands the old Insurance office. There were other wharves along this bay, now almost entirely obliterated, and a fair share of the business of the town was transacted in the neighborhood described. One of these wharves was located not far from where now stands the depot of the Washington and Ohio Railroad. While this creek has so entirely disappeared, it is said that the channel of the river has not changed or filled up appreciably; the only change is by the decrease of the water on the flats opposite the city.

A PIG IN A LAW OFFICE.—Considerable amusement was occasioned yesterday evening by a chase for a pig—the presence of swine, on the street, being prohibited by law—that had wandered from his domain, and finding himself hotly pursued, sought protection in the office of a distinguished law firm on Prince street, where he was captured after a great deal of difficulty. Foremost in the chase was a gentleman who has for some time declared his inability to walk, but from whose active exertions yesterday, it is presumed that he was mistaken as to his power of "locomotion." The aforesaid pig was a white pig with a curly tail. Not it has been reported in the newspapers that at the late fox chase in Maryland the distinguished Earl de Grey and Ripon was declared entitled to the "bush" as being in at the death. The gentleman present, yesterday, declared that "the limb of the law" was, of course, entitled to the tail, as an "ensign" of victory, but the pig pulled one away, and the lawyer the other, and as nature had given the tail more tenacity than the lawyer's strength, it resisted all attempts at extraction. But, as one of the gentlemen present remarked, it was not surprising that the pig came off victorious in the contest, and upon one of the green members of the profession asking why, he replied "that the pig had no fee. If he had had one, no amount of strength exerted on his part would have enabled him to free himself from the clutches of the successful 'pig hunter,' for if he alone had been unable to have retained his hold on the tail owing to the weakness of his 'pedestals,' (said weakness having been incurred by previous hunts, as a friend remarked) there would have come to his assistance another member of the firm, who, with one blow from his shillalah, would have laid the enemy low, and no more would have been allowed to rejoin his family until his money was gone where, in poetic language, the 'woodbine twined.' The moral of the above is plain, and carries a lesson to all pigs: keep out of lawyers' offices if you don't want to be caught.

SUPPOSED MURDER.—A letter from Lovington, Nelson county, giving an account of the killing, by citizens, of the noted colored horse thief Dr. Domini, alias Wm. Grimes, states that the impression is, that the owner of the horse on which the thief was mounted at the time he was killed, judging from the trappings, &c., was murdered by Domini, who thus came in possession of the animal.

Prices ranged from $8.50 a 9.00 per thousand for herring and $12 a 13.00 per hundred for shad. Very few marketable bunch fish are arriving. A few large rock were sold at 75c a $1.

IN THE COURT OF APPEALS on Tuesday, in the case of the Bank of the Old Dominion vs. McVeigh, Mr. John Howard submitted a motion for a rehearing of the case. The motion was docketed. DISPATCHES TO THE GAZETTE.

FROM WASHINGTON.

CONGRESS. WASHINGTON, April 12.—The Senate considered the Ku-Klux bill. Mr. Thurman, of Ohio, opposed the bill, contending that the law was unconstitutional and would prove a dead letter.

The House of Representatives had under debate the deficiency bill, the pending question being upon an amendment repealing the act requiring Congress to meet on the 5th of March. An amendment to the amendment providing that it should not go into effect until after the 43d Congress, was debated at length.

FOREIGN NEWS. BOLOGNE, April 12.—Wednesday night.—Yesterday morning the Governor of St. Amer and Arras left for Versailles.

PARIS, April 12.—Wednesday 7 p. m.—The Cure of Notre Dame de Lorette and Abbe Miguel, Vicar of St. Philippe, have been arrested the latter while visiting the Archbishop.

There was an artillery duel that lasted through the day.

The Nationals refusing to fight, have been disbanded.

The insurgents are in high spirits over the result of last night's fighting. An attack is expected to-night.

Assy is accused of high treason to this city and the nation.

Nambroski telegraphs that he is in possession of three quarters of Neuilly, and hopes to get to the bridge to-night.

Amaroux has been released and made secretary of the Commune.

Shells are falling in the rue Chailot. The firing continues.

VERSAILLES, Wednesday night.—The coup de main arranged for last night was deferred till to-night.

Thiers is so anxious to avoid bloodshed that it is doubtful whether it will take place.

The Assembly is enraged at the inactivity of the troops at Valerien.

There was excellent practice last night, two new guns having been mounted at Chailot, to bombard the city.

At the last moment I learn that an attack inside and outside of Paris is certain to take place to-night. Marshal McMahon commands.

LOSPON, April 13.—The Times' special dispatch from Versailles says that columns of insurgents have advanced to Chantou, without meeting with opposition. The same correspondent says that Thiers is opposed to the bringing on of decisive action until fifty thousand additional men shall have reinforced the Versailles army.

A special to the Telegraph from Paris, says General Dombrowski telegraphs to the Communal Committee that his forces have occupied three-fourths of the town of Neuilly.

A letter from Guizot on the State of affairs in France is published to-day. He approves the conduct of the Assembly, trusts the struggle will be short, and expresses confidence that the result will be certain and decisive.

The Times' special from Paris says a portion of the Versailles army, engaged in attacking the outlying forts to the South of Paris has suffered greatly in both killed and wounded. The Communists have surrounded three hundred gun dummies near Asnières, and their capitulation is thought probable.

General Dombrowski is very popular with his troops. He declares that he will burn Neuilly, Villiers and Puteaux if such a step is necessary for the defence of Paris. A dispatch from Versailles says there is a great concentration of troops before that city.

Marshal McMahon has gone to Villiers and a decisive attack upon the insurgent positions is expected.

Thiers is now opposed to conciliation and thinks the success of the army certain.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Exhaustion.—Invalids, broken down in health and spirits by Chronic Dyspepsia, or low the attacks of nervous disease, the testimony of thousands who have been raised up by a miracle from a similar state of prostration by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is a sure guarantee by the same means to those who may be strengthened and restored. But to those who stand in peril of becoming, to all who by reason of exposure, privations, and uncleanly climate or unwholesome pursuits may at any moment be stricken down, this is a most particularly and emphatically adapted and safe remedy. It is a most powerful and absolute safeguard against the danger that threatens you. Tone and regulate the system with harmless medicinal stimulant and alterative, and you will be forearmed against the maladies whose seeds float around you in their unwholesome atmosphere. Stomach Bitters are not only standard medicine and alterative throughout the United States, but they are accredited by the certificate of the most distinguished citizens of the Union, to the people of all other lands. In Canada, Australia, and the West Indies, they are gradually taking the place of all other stomachics, whether native or foreign, and as surely as truth is progressive and demonstration overthrows doubt, they will eventually supersede every other invigorant and restorative now employed in medicinal practice. ap 10—eolw
